

The Nova Scotia College of Nursing (NSCN) is the regulatory body for licensed practical nurses (LPNs), registered nurses (RNs) and nurse practitioners (NPs) in Nova Scotia. Our mandate is to protect the public by promoting the provision of safe, competent, ethical and compassionate nursing services by our registrants. The term nurse in this document refers to LPNs, RNs and NPs unless otherwise stated.

As the COVID-19 pandemic continues to challenge and evolve our health care system, NSCN expects all nurse practitioners to continue to work within their scope of practice and meet their standards of practice in the best interest of their clients.

Nurse practitioners must not restrict in-person care to only those clients who have been vaccinated or have had a recent negative COVID-19 test result. In-person care can be provided safely to all patients by taking appropriate precautions, including screening patients and using necessary personal protective equipment (PPE). Nurse practitioners cannot require documented proof of vaccination from a client as a prerequisite for attending their practice. However, it is reasonable for a nurse practitioner to request that clients report their vaccine status to maintain an accurate health record.

If you have any questions, please reach out to an NSCN Practice Consultant at practice@nscn.ca.

November 2021, first published as Nurse Practitioner Obligations to See Clients In-Person: Professional Practice Bulletin

Copyright © Nova Scotia College of Nursing, Bedford Nova Scotia. Commercial or for-profit redistribution of this document in part or in whole is prohibited except with the written consent of NSCN. This document may be reproduced in part or in whole for personal or educational use without permission, provided that:

- Due diligence is exercised in ensuring the accuracy of the materials reproduced;
- NSCN is identified as the source; and
- The reproduction is not represented as an official version of the materials reproduced, nor as having been made in affiliation with, or with the endorsement of, NSCN

Our practice support tools are developed using current reference material. The source of this material is available upon request.

